EDUCATION & EXPERIENCE

Tracy Healy, REFP

Tracy Healy is the current president of DeJONG-HEALY. Previously, she served as a vice president at DeJONG and was one of its founding members. Tracy continues to focus on demographics and facility planning projects.

With a master's degree in English, experience in city and regional planning, and time spent teaching in the classroom, Tracy is well-equipped to meet the needs of clients. She combines over 15 years of experience with her desire to enhance learning environments for students around the world.

One major area of focus for Tracy is in projecting student enrollment for schools districts involved with the Ohio School Facilities Commission. To date, projections for over 400 districts have been completed, including the six major urban districts: Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Akron, Toledo, and Dayton. Tracy has worked with the Ohio School Facilities Commission team to develop ten-year enrollment projections for school districts entering one of its many programs since 1998.

Tracy is involved with CEFPI, the Council of Educational Facility Planners, International. She currently serves on the Leadership Team for the Midwest/Great Lakes Region and was the program co-chair of the 2009 regional conference held in Columbus. She has received several awards from CEFPI, including a Distinguished Service Award.

Tracy has also worked as a Senior Planner for the City of Columbus Planning Office.

Notable Educational Planning Experience

▶ Olentangy Local Schools, Ohio

Tracy has worked with Olentangy Local Schools, one of the fastest growing districts in the state of Ohio, since 1998. Every year, ten-year enrollment projections for the District are updated. During that time, enrollment has grown from just under 5,000 students to over 14,000—an increase of almost 200 percent. Each year, enrollment projections for the District are updated. In addition, Tracy has developed a build-out scenario as well as projections by housing subdivision for the elementary and middle school grades.

▶ Granville Schools, Ohio

Tracy has worked with the District on a variety of projects since 1999, including enrollment projections, a facility master plan, and a strategic plan. As a result, educational specifications for several school renovations, a high school addition, and a new intermediate school were developed. These projects have since come to fruition. She also developed a new middle school educational specification in Spring 2006 and led a taskforce focused on enrollment in Spring 2007.
